DEPARTMENT OF ANOMALOUS PHENOMENA
REGISTRY AND CONTAINMENT

INSTITUTIONAL IDENTITY MANUAL

INTERNAL DOCUMENT — CLASSIFICATION: PUBLIC

Version 3.2 | Updated: January 2026

MISSION

The Department of Anomalous Phenomena Registry and Containment (DAPRC) exists to document, investigate, and contain anomalous manifestations linked to cosmological entities, protecting the civilian population while preserving the integrity of those affected by these phenomena.

Our core commitment:

- Intervene when the impossible occurs
- Document what should not exist
- Protect those who cannot protect themselves
- Understand before acting

VISION

To be the first line of response to anomalous manifestations, operating with a scientific foundation, humanitarian ethics, and respect for the dignity of every affected person.

We aspire to a world where:

- No anomalous phenomenon goes unnoticed
- No victim is ignored or criminalized
- Cosmological knowledge is preserved for future generations
- Human intervention mitigates suffering without causing additional harm

We recognize that:

We are not invincible heroes. We are researchers, documentarians, improvised social workers, and sometimes, simple witnesses to something greater than ourselves.

OPERATIONAL PRINCIPLES

1. THE VICTIM BEFORE THE PHENOMENON

Every case begins with a person. Someone who suffers, who lost something, who carries an unhealed emotional wound. The anomalous phenomenon is secondary.

Protocol:

- Identify the emotional fracture first
- Assess immediate risk to the affected
- Prioritize psychological wellbeing over scientific curiosity
- Never experiment on vulnerable people

2. OBSERVE, DOCUMENT, UNDERSTAND

We do not arrive with preconceived answers. We arrive with notebooks, recorders, sensors, and questions.

Our method:

- Non-invasive observation as first step
- Exhaustive record-keeping: times, temperatures, minimal details
- Respectful interviews, never interrogations
- Documentation that another researcher could replicate

3. MINIMUM NECESSARY INTERVENTION

Not every anomaly requires aggressive containment. Many resolve when the human wound that originated them is resolved.

Progressive escalation:

- Level 1: Passive observation
- Level 2: Therapeutic accompaniment
- Level 3: Limited environmental intervention
- Level 4: Active containment
- Level 5: Emergency intervention

Absolute rule: Containment must never cause more harm than the anomaly itself.

4. RESPECT FOR THE UNKNOWN

Entities are not inherently evil. They are catalysts. Amplifiers. Sometimes, revealers of uncomfortable truths.

We do not assume:

- That every entity seeks to destroy
- That every manifestation is hostile
- That every anomaly must be eliminated
- That we fully understand cosmology

We remain:

- Humble before what we do not comprehend
- Open to recategorizing phenomena
- Cautious with absolute classifications

5. THE HUMANITY OF THE INVESTIGATOR

Our agents are people. With limits. With their own traumas. With bad days.

We care for our personnel:

- Mandatory rotation in extreme cases
- Quarterly psychological evaluation
- Permission to decline specific cases
- Post-incident decompression spaces

Institutional rule: A damaged agent cannot help anyone.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

Access Levels

LEVEL D: Support personnel. Access to closed unclassified files.

LEVEL C: Field agents. Access to active cases level 1-3.

LEVEL B: Senior agents and specialists. Access to cases level 1-5.

LEVEL A: Department directors. Full access except Obsidian classification.

LEVEL S: Executive directory. Total access including ECO-POSSIBLE cases and contact with superior entities.

Main Departments

1. Field Investigation
    - Initial response to reports
    - On-site documentation
    - Interviews with affected individuals
    - Evidence collection

2. Technical Analysis
    - Audio/video processing
    - Physical distortion analysis
    - Temporal anomaly measurement
    - Pattern identification

3. Psychology and Support
    - Assessment of affected individuals
    - Post-incident therapy
    - Family support
    - DAPRC personnel evaluation

4. Cosmological Theory
    - Entity investigation
    - Cosmic ring mapping
    - Restart analysis (classified)
    - Complex case consultation

5. Containment and Protocol

- Emergency protocol design
- Coordination with civil authorities
- Relocation of affected when necessary
- Active threat neutralization

6. Archive and Documentation
    - File preservation
    - Case classification
    - Historical research
    - Interdepartmental report preparation

RESPONSE PROTOCOLS

Phase 1: REPORT RECEPTION

Report sources:

- Educational or health institutions
- Police or emergency services
- Direct civilian reports
- Anomalous pattern monitoring

Activation criteria:

- Impossible knowledge without verifiable source
- Temporal or spatial distortions
- Recurring auditory/visual manifestations
- Extreme behavioral changes without medical cause
- Reports of 'presences' with measurable physical effects

Phase 2: INITIAL ASSESSMENT

Field agent and relevant specialist deployed within 24-48 hours.

Objectives:

- Verify existence of anomalous phenomenon
- Assess immediate risk
- Identify primary and secondary affected individuals
- Determine preliminary classification level

Phase 3: ACTIVE DOCUMENTATION

If phenomenon is confirmed:

- Installation of monitoring equipment
- Formal interviews with affected individuals
- Physical evidence collection
- Personal/family history analysis
- Search for emotional fracture

Phase 4: HYPOTHESIS AND CLASSIFICATION

Interdepartmental team determines:

- Type of phenomenon (residue, amplification, direct contact)
- Entity involved (if applicable)
- Risk level
- Recommended intervention protocol

Phase 5: INTERVENTION

Options according to case:

Passive observation: Monitoring without intervention. Phenomenon will resolve naturally when emotional fracture heals.

Therapeutic accompaniment: Psychological work with affected. Resolution of underlying trauma.

Temporary relocation: Separation of affected from environment where manifestation occurs.

Environmental containment: Physical space modification. Location sealing. Anchor-object destruction.

Emergency intervention: Life-risk cases. Forced extraction. Sedation if necessary. Last option.

Phase 6: FOLLOW-UP

Cases do not end with cessation of anomalies.

Post-incident monitoring:

- Monthly evaluations during first year
- Quarterly evaluations during second year
- Indefinite annual check-ins for severe cases

Continued support:

- Subsidized therapy for affected
- Support groups (in development)
- 24/7 emergency line for reactivations

ETHICS AND LIMITS

What we NEVER do:

- ✗ Experiment on affected individuals
- ✗ Provoke manifestations to 'document them better'
- ✗ Publicly expose identities of affected
- ✗ Use case information for personal benefit
- ✗ Intervene in cases without consent (except life emergency)
- ✗ Classify people as 'monsters' or 'threats'
- ✗ Assume guilt in the affected
- ✗ Ignore reports due to social prejudices

What we ALWAYS do:

- ✓ Respect the human dignity of each affected individual
- ✓ Preserve confidentiality
- ✓ Offer options, not impose solutions
- ✓ Recognize our limits
- ✓ Refer to external professionals when appropriate
- ✓ Admit when we do not understand something
- ✓ Protect minors with special protocols
- ✓ Document honestly, including our mistakes

CASE CLASSIFICATION

LEVEL 1: Weak emotional residue. No risk. Observation recommended.

LEVEL 2: Minor manifestations. Limited psychological risk. Accompaniment sufficient.

LEVEL 3: Persistent residue or minor amplification. Therapeutic intervention necessary.

LEVEL 4: Active entity amplification. Moderate risk. Containment recommended.

LEVEL 5: Direct contact with entity or severe threat. Immediate intervention.

LEVEL 6: Confirmed offspring or multi-entity phenomenon. Permanent monitoring.

SPECIAL CLASSIFICATION:

ECO-POSSIBLE: Indications of fragments from previous continuity. Ultra-restricted access.

SUPERIOR CONTACT: Interaction with Death, Past, Present, or other entity of maximum cosmological hierarchy.

OBSIDIAN: Cases involving possible activation of The Protector or evidence of previous restart.

FINAL MESSAGE TO NEW PERSONNEL

Welcome to DAPRC.

This work is not what you expected.

You came in thinking you would face monsters.

You will. But most of the time, the monster is an unhealed wound. An unprocessed trauma. An emotion so large it punctured reality.

You will see things that should not exist.

You will hear testimonies that will shatter your understanding of the world.

You will document horrors. And also beauty. Sometimes in the same case.

Always remember:

You are not here to judge. You are here to understand.

You are not here to be a hero. You are here to be a witness.

You are not here to have all the answers. You are here to ask the right questions.

And above all:

You are here to remember that behind every file is a person. Someone who deserves respect. Someone who deserves help. Someone who deserves to be seen as human. Even when what happens to them is not.

Department of Anomalous Phenomena Registry and Containment

"We document the impossible. We protect the human."
